The institutions listed below have kindly given permission for published illustrations to be reproduced here: Centre for North West Regional Studies, University of Lancaster (Ills. 397–400, 411); North West Catholic History Society, Wigan (Ill. 735).

A number of illustrations were originally published by the following institutions, but are assumed to be out of copyright: Architectural, Archaeological and Historic Society for the County and the City of Chester and North Wales (Ills. 58–9, 351, 379); Chetham Society, Manchester (Ill. 238); Historic Society of Lancashire and Cheshire (Ills. 58–9, 229, 351, 379); Wyman & Sons, Great Queen Street, London (Ills. 139–40); Henry Young & Sons Ltd, Liverpool (Ill. 389).

The plates were set by Christina Unwin.

NOTE ON REDUCTIONS

Wherever possible, the photographs have been reduced so that the stones are shown at one eighth of their actual size. This scale is not indicated in the captions. Views of details of larger stones, and small stones (normally those with dimensions not greater than 20 cm (8 in)), are shown at one quarter or one half of their actual size, and are marked (1:4) or (1:2) in the captions. Stones which are either too large to be reproduced at one eighth of actual size, or the dimensions of which are unobtainable, have not been reduced according to any fixed scale, and are therefore marked in the captions as not to scale (nts).
